Centennial

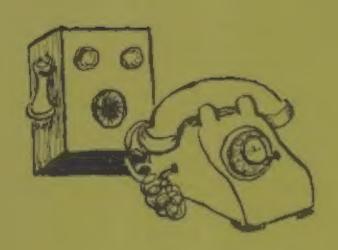

TO the Most Reverend Bishops

- 10 the Right Reverend, Very Reverend, and Reverend Ciergy whose zeal and interest have contributed to the educational progress of Saint Patrick's School
- TO the devoted Sisters of Charity who, during these hundred years, by their wisdom, their love, their devotion have raised our school to its present high educational status.

Dedication

1966

TO the numerous Alumni who cherish the remembrance of their days at Saint Patrick's

TO the Parents and friends whose generosity and selfsacrifice made possible the existence and growth of our school

WE affectionately dedicate this Centennial Issue of

THE PATRICIAN

His Excellency,
Most Rev. JOHN J.
RUSSELL
RICHMOND
1958--19__

1866 ... Saint Patrick's Began ...

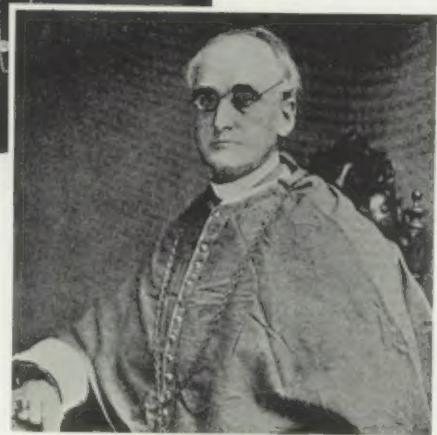

. . . The first steps toward the present Saint Patrick's Central High School were taken in the year following the close of the Civil War. When the educational outlook was darkest, Bishop McGill appealed to the Sisters of Charity at Emmitsburg for Sisters to conduct a school in Saint Patrick's Parish.

The request having been considered favorably, on September 3, 1866, Sister Mary Innocent and four companions opened an academy for girls in a small frame dwelling on 25th Street, near the church. Despite post-war conditions, "During the first year of its existence the school was attended by no less than 150 girls."

Admission of 75 boys in 1867 was a significant step in the life of the school--for from these first beginnings came our future priests.

In 1868 the Academy was permanently established at the northeast corner of 25th and Franklin Streets.

15 Principals in 100 Years

For forty-six years, 1868-1914, Sister Rosalie Harrington devoted her talents and abilities to the students of Saint Patrick's Academy.

Sister Rosalie was born in Albany, New York; and, after entering the Daughters of Charity, came to Richmond in 1860. During the War between the States she gave her services in the work of number g wounded soldiers.

The memory of Sister Rosalie and all that she did for the souls entrusted to her is still held in benediction.

Past Meets Present

In keeping with our 100th anniversary theme, we invited Mrs. Mary Landers Goode, assistant editor of the first Patrician to visit us.

when Mrs, Goode was assistant editor, the Patrician was a monthly newspaper. The first issue appeared in 1926 under the direction of its moderator. Sister Agres. It continued for several years under many capable leaders until the 1950's. In 1957 the newspaper was discontinued and a yearbook with the same name took its place. The yearbook was published for six years and was then replaced by the present memory book.

Thank You

The staff would airc to express their sticere thanks, here to sister Gereldi ic for her outstanding help in producing this a cratory book. Also, the class of 66 thanks her for the many things she has done for them in their lost year at St. Partick's.

May God biess you!

HAPPY KING AND QUEEN: Maria De Quartro and Norbert Bliley

THE ROYAL COURT: REPRESENTATIVES S. Richter, B. Crow, P. Loflin, Queen Maria De Quartro, King Norbert Bliley, Princess E. Lapastrora, and Prince J. Whitz.

"O COME LET US ADORE HIM" chant the seniors at the close of the annual Christinas page air.

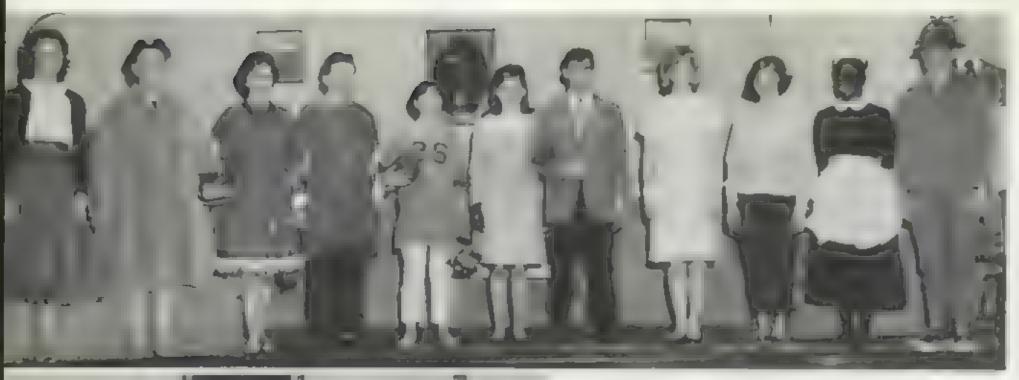

Peace on Earth — Good Will to Men

"FEAR NOT! FOR BEHOLD," . . . Nancy Yates reassures shepherds: David Pulliam, B. Crow, J. Hatley.

THE THREE Wise Men approaching Bethlehem: Norbert Bliley, James Ryan, and Lawerence Capehart.

ON DECEMBER 19, 20, 21, the seniors performed the annual Christmas pageant. This year the performance was greatly enhanced by the work of Sister Agnes in writing the script and by Mr. Yates in painting the scenery. St. Joseph was played by Brent Stuldreher and Maria De Quatro was Mary.

Brother Goose

"MAH GRACIOUS, look at my skirt!" Alex Hessa (Wes) and Nancy Yates (Eve) try out the new motorcycle.

"KNOW WHERE these Wheat Puffies are? In my gas tank!"
D. Pulliam (Jeff) watches as S. Capehart explains his problem to P. Casey, (Lenore).

AFTER MANY months of practice, "Brother Goose," a three-act comedy by William Davidson, was produced by the Seniors on February 11, 12, and 13.

"AND MY BUSINESS isn't going to be your business, anymore." P. Casey, (Lenore) and D. Pulliam (left) listen as J. Burneston (Mrs. Trummer) prepares to eave.

CURTAIN CALL after a successful performance. J. Thermer, J. Burneston, N. Yates, A. Hessa, L. Cowling, F. Kray, D. Pullarm, P. Casey, J. Brown, M. DeQuatro, S. Capehart

BROTHER GOOSE was a success only because of the hard work of our director, Mr. Ken Clark. F. Kray listens while he explains a difficult scene in the play. His friendship will long be remembered.

Thank you, Ken!

"MAYBE YOU should have kept the sewing machine."

L. Cowling (Hy) and A. Hessa (Wes) give the new motorcycle the once over.

THE BEST architect we ever had is Mr. Edward Britton. George Gallagher helps as he adds another finishing touch to the scenery. Thanks, Mr. Britton!

"WHAT'S THIS, a race not"? shouts J. Burneston (Mrs. Trimmer) as she is brought into the confusion of a football play. Just recovering from the play are D. Pulliam (Jeff), F. Kray (Peggy), P. Casey (Lenore), J. Brown (Carol), J. Burneston (Mrs. Trimmer), M. DeQuatro, (Sarah).

"Kathleen" — March 17, 1966

"They're bewitched entirely,
The Prince (Norbert Bliley) and Gay Kathleen" (Sue Gallagher)

"I'd be quite a fool, If I did not help myself a bit ..." sings Tim O'Toole (Larry Capehart) as he tricks old Bridget (Ken McCarthy)

"Tip, tap - another knock And away we go..."
agree Mary and Peter (Mary Mgt,
Cooley and George
Gallagher)
